Back-To-School:

Make This School Year the Best One Yet!

With kids heading back to the classroom, staying ahead of the curve on health and wellness is essential. Did you know that schoolchildren typically catch around eight colds a year? Let's work together to keep everyone healthy and ready to learn!

Access2day Health is here to support you with convenient, high-quality care. From routine checkups and physicals to preventative services, Access2day ensures you and your covered dependents get the care you need, when you need it.

Why Regular Check-Ups are Essential for Children

- Early Detection: Identify and address potential health issues before they become serious.
- Growth and Development Monitoring: Track your child's growth, development, and milestones.

Client Spotlight!

In the heart of Alexandria, Louisiana, the consulting engineering and land surveying firm Meyer, Meyer, LaCroix & Hixson LLC (MML&H) has long been a beacon of professional achievement and community impact. Known for its exceptional career development initiatives and outstanding contributions to the engineering profession, MML&H has proudly earned the Professional Development Award from the NSPE's Professional Engineers in Private Practice not once, but twice—in 1996 and again in 2013.

With a philosophy rooted in nurturing talent from day one, MML&H is now in its 56th year, preparing the brightest minds to lead the industry forward. This commitment to excellence ensures the company's vitality for another half-century and beyond.

MML&H is one of the original Access2day clients, with employees having enjoyed our clinic membership program since 2012. Mickey Pigg, the firm's financial director, underscores the seamless integration of this program into their health benefits package:

"I love that I don't have to make an appointment with the clinic; I'm usually seen within 15 minutes to get the care I need. They get me in and out quickly. There's no paperwork, and it's just an easy way to get quality care. Some employees are a bit skittish to go the first time, but once they do, they love it and continue to use the Access2day clinic, especially the Cenla Family Medical Clinic here in Alexandria, which was also one of the original Access2day clinic locations."

As one of the original Access2day Health clients, MML&H has witnessed firsthand the transformative impact of convenient, high-quality healthcare on employee satisfaction and well-being. This partnership, built on mutual trust and a shared commitment to excellence, exemplifies how forward-thinking companies can enhance their benefits offerings while supporting their workforce's health and productivity.
